

Laloo and the bridge

Once Laloo Yadav went to USA. He stayed with one of the senators of the US Government. The senator's home was extraordinary. Laloo was amazed by the riches of the senator. He asked him how he had earned so much and made this beautiful a home.

The senator took him to a window and asked him, "Do you see that river?"

Laloo replied, "Yes!"

"And do you see that bridge?", asked the senator.

Laloo replied "Yes!"

The senator said, "50%!" (took as a bribe)

Laloo was happy to hear this and he invited him to come to India. When the senator came and saw Laloo's home he was shocked. It was far bigger than his home. He asked Laloo how he made so much money.

Laloo took him to a window and said, "Do you see that river?"

The senator replied, "Yes!"

"And do you see the bridge?", asked Laloo.

"No." replied the senator.

Laloo said, "100%!"